Business Studies - A Level (Edexcel)

A Level Business investigates how businesses work; exploring business theories and concepts including the marketing mix, resource management, setting objectives, and globalisation. As an A Level Business student, you will also gain knowledge of how to start your own business and common problems and solutions that arise in the world of enterprise.

You will learn how to analyse and evaluate the performance of a business to make recommendations by using a wide range of business contexts and investigating business information. You will be making business decisions, both short-term and long-term, using quantitative and qualitative tools.

This course will assist you in considering the issues and problems arising in organisations, from a variety of different perspectives, including the challenges involved in starting a business, how firms organise the production of goods and services, how businesses engage in financial planning and decision-making and how firms market their products, influence sales, and compete effectively.
